NEW PLAYS.

75. ADRIFF. A Temperance Drama, in three acts, by Chas. W. Babcock, M. D. Six male, four female characters. Good characters for leading man, villain, comedy, juvenile, a capital negro, and jolly Irishman. Also leading lady, little girl, juvenile lady, and old negress. A deep plot, characters well drawn and language pure. Easily produced. Scenery simple and costumes modern. Time of performance, one hour and a half.

76. HOW HE DID IT. A comic Drama in one act, by John Parry, three male, two female characters. An amusing scene from real life. A plot is laid to cure a husband, who having lost a first wife whom he domineered over, tries to treat a second one in like manner. A splendid comedian's part. Time about thirty minutes. Costumes modern.

77. JOES VISIT. An Ethiopian burlesque on the Rough Diamond, two male, one female characters. Easily produced and very laughable. Can also be played white. Time twenty minutes. Costumes extravagant negro.

78. AN AWFUL CRIMINAL. A Farce in one act, by J. Palgrave Simpson, three male, three female characters. Plot excellent and its development very amusing. The oftener produced the better it is liked—is in one scene and easily put upon the stage. Costumes simple. Time thirty-five minutes.

79. THE SPY OF ATLANTA. A Grand Military Allegory in six acts, by A. D. Ames and C. G. Bartey, fourteen male, three females. This play is founded on incidents which occurred during the war of the Rebellion—it introduces Ohio's brave and gallant McPherson—the manner of his capture and death. It abounds with beautiful tableaux, drills, marches, battle scenes, Andersonville, etc., and is pronounced by the press and public, the most successful military play ever produced. G. A. R. Posts, Military Companies and other organizations, who may wish something which will draw, should produce it. It may not be out of place to add that this play with the incidents of the death of McPherson, was written with the consent of the General's brother, R. B. McPherson, since dead, who fully approved of it. Price 25 cents per copy.

80. ALARMINGLY SUSPICIOUS. A Comedietta in one act, by J. Palgrave Simpson, four male, three females. This play is easily arranged, and the plot excellent. Some things are "Alarmingly Suspicious" however, and it will please an audience. Time forty-five minutes.

81. OLD PHIL'S BIRTHDAY. A serio-comic Drama in two acts, by J. P. Wooler, five male, two females. Scenery easily arranged. Costumes modern. One of the purest and most attractive plays ever published. The character of "Old Phil" cannot be excelled, and the balance are every one good. Time one hour and forty-five minutes.

82. KILLING TIME. A Farce in one act, one male, one female. Scene—a drawing room. Costumes modern. A woman held captive at home by the rain seeks to "kill time." How she does it is told by this farce. Time about thirty minutes.

83. OUT ON THE WORLD. A Drama in three acts, five males, four females. Scenery not difficult. Modern costumes. A thrilling picture of love, fidelity and devotion. Excellent leading characters, and Irish comedy, both male and female. Can be produced on any stage. Time two hours. An American Drama.

84. CHEEK WILL WIN. A Farce for three male characters, by W. E. Suter. Costumes modern. Scene plain apartment. It is said that nothing will carry a man through the world as well as plenty of "cheek." A striking example is given in this farce. It will please all. Time thirty minutes.

85. THE OUTCAST'S WIFE. A domestic Drama in three acts, by Colin H. Hazlewood, twelve males, three females. Costumes modern. A thrilling play of the blood and thunder order, abounding in exciting scenes, and hair-breadth escapes. Is a favorite wherever produced, and has leading man, old man, juvenile and comedy characters. The "wife" is a grand one for leading lady, and there is a good comedy. Time one hour and forty-five minutes.

86. BLACK VS WHITE OR THE NIGGER AND YANKEE. A Farce in one act, by Geo. S. Vautrot, four males, two females. Simple scenery. Modern costumes. In this farce is combined the Ethiopian and Yankee, both characters being very funny, as well as other excellent parts. Time of performance, thirty-five minutes.

TWAIN'S DODGING.

ACT I.

SCENE FIRST.—Chamber, table R. C., two chairs, R. and L. of table. Bell on table.—Hardlife discovered with newspaper seated L. of table.

Hardlife. Confound the girl! After years of hard labor, to educate her, she is going to marry against my wishes. But, (tragically) ere the setting of another sun, she shall be a prisoner until she does. Marry John Dodge, indeed! As if my daughter should stoop so low as to marry a Dodge. No such dodging for me. (looks at paper—pulls out watch) Half past eight, and no breakfast yet. Here, Twain, you rascal! Twain! Twain, I say! (rings bell violently) Twain, come here!

Enter Twain L. 2 E., slowly.

Twain. Hum!

Hard. Where is my breakfast, you imp?

Twain. Your breakfass am in de kitchen, I suppose.

Hard. Were you aware that I have had none this morning?

Twain. Neither have I had any.

Hard. That, sir, is nothing. You know my business hours, and should see that I have my breakfast in time every morning.

Twain. Is dat so?

Hard. Yes, sir, that is so. (stamps foot) Do you hear? My breakfast!

Twain. Yes, I hear your breakfass. You needn't make such a fuss about it.

Hard. Well, go and fetch it immediately!

Twain. Fetch it here?

Hard. Yes, you block-head, where else would you fetch it?

Twain. I fly. (goes slowly L. 2 E., and exit.)

Hard. Did ever a man in the world have as much trouble before, with stupid servants?

Re-enter Twain. L. 2 E.

TWAIN'S DODGING.

Twain. What do you want for breakfast?

Hard. Some tea and some toast, will do.

Twain. Do you want yer toast buttered?

Hard. Of course I do.

Twain. I fly.

(exit L. 2 E.)

Hard. I will call that silly girl, and tell her what she may expect from me if she disobeys me. (goes R. 2 E. calls) Molly, come here!

Enter Molly, R. 2 E.

Molly. Good morning, papa, I thought you had gone.

Hard. Well, you see I'm not, and whats more, I shall stay here all day and prevent any interviews between you and that fool Dodge.

Enter Twain, L. 2 E.

Twain. Do you want yer toast toasted?

Hard. Of course I do, you fool.

Twain. Well, don't get so confounded mad, I shan't hurt you.

Hard. Come, be gone!

Twain. I fly.

(exit L. 2 E.)

Hard. As I was saying, I have had an offer for your hand, and I mean that you shall marry no one but Casper Plane—Do you hear?

Molly. Well, dad, I've had an offer for my hand, and I mean to marry no one but John Dodge. Do you hear?

Hard. What! Do you mean to defy me, you ungrateful baggage?

Molly. (sitting R. of table) That's just about the size of it, pop, and I don't care whether you are pleased or not.

Enter Twain, L. 2 E.

Twain. What did you say you wanted besides toast and butter?

Hard. I said I wanted some tea.

Twain. What kind of tea. Hot or cold?

Hard. Hot tea, of course.

Twain. Do you want any milk or sugar?

Hard. Certainly I do. Come hurry.

Twain. I fly.

(exit L. 2 E.)

Hard. Now, Molly, I say you shan't marry anybody but Casper, and if you don't say here, and now, that you will do as I bid you, I shall lock you up in your room till you do, and you shall have nothing to eat but bread and water. Do you hear, miss? Bread and water.

Molly. I don't get much better now. But give me until to-night to think of it.

Hard. Very well, I shall go down town as soon as I have eaten, and shall not be back till night, so you can make up your mind as I dictate, or suffer the consequences.

Enter Twain, L. 2 E.

Twain. What kind of tea do you want, green or black?

Hard. Green tea, you whelp.

Twain. There's no green tea.

Hard. Then give me the blackest you've got.

Twain. I fly.

(exit L. 2 E.)

Hard. You can go to your room, Molly. I have no more to say except that you shall marry no one but Casper Plane.

Molly. (going R.—aside) And I know I shall marry no one, but my dear little John Dodge.

(exit Molly, R. 2 E.)

Hard. I'll have Twain watch her to-day, and see that no one comes near her.

Enter Twain, L. 2 E.

Twain. There ain't no black tea.

Hard. Well, what have you got that is fit for a hog to drink?

Twain. Swill.

Hard. Silence, you rascal! Havent you any tea at all?

Twain. Yes.

Hard. What kind is it?

Twain. Japan-Young Hyson-Twankey——

Hard. Why the devil didn't you bring some of that long ago? Come, no more of this nonsense. I am in a hurry.

Twain. I fly.

(exit L. 2 E.)

Hard. The fool! I wonder if he thinks I can stay here all day.

Enter Twain, L. 2 E., with tray, cup and saucer.

Hard. Where is the toast?

Twain. Oh yes, I forgot.

(exit L. 2 E. with tray.)

Hard. I hope he has it right this time.

Enter Twain, L. 2 E.

Twain. Here's your breakfast, sir.

Hard. There's the table, put it down. (Twain sits on table, and drinks out of cup) Set those things on the table, and don't touch them, do you hear?

Twain. Eh!

Hard. Put them on the table, and go!

Twain. Put these things on de table?

Hard. Yes. (Twain puts tray on table—Hardlife picks up cup) Now go! (sets tea) Stop! Go and get me some boiling water.

Twain. Some boiling water?

Hard. Yes, this tea is too strong.

Twain. I fly.

(exit L. 2 E.)

Hard. Confound a fool, say I!

Enter Twain, L. 2 E.

Twain. Do you want your boiling water boiled?

Hard. Heavens, Twain! I'll smash your head, if you come back again with such questions. Go and get the water.

Twain. I fly.

(exit L. 2 E.)

Hard. I'll break every bone in that fellows body, some of these days, if he don't do better.

(he eats.)

Enter Twain L. 2 E. with pitcher.

Twain. Here's yer water, sar. Where do you want it?

Hard. Give it here. (pours water in teacup) See here, Twain! I want you to watch Molly to-day, and see that John Dodge don't see her. Do you hear?

Twain. Yes. I'm to watch Molly, and see that no one but John Dodge sees her, eh?

Hard. If he comes, you say she's not at home.

Twain. All right.

Hard. (putting on hat) Now remember, don't let John Dodge in to the house, or I'll break your neck. (exit R. 1 E.)

Twain. (feeling his neck) Not much, he'll not break my neck.

Enter Molly, R. 2 E.

Molly. Good morning, dear Twain! You are looking very sweet this morning, ain't you dear?

Twain. I guess so. How do you think you look?

Molly. Twain, do you like me much?

Twain. Yes, some.

Molly. If you'll do me a favor to-day, I'll do anything you wish me to, Twain dear.

Twain. What's the favor you want me to do?

Molly. Well, will you do it?

Twain. Will you give me a smack, if I do?

Molly. Yes.

Twain. A smack right on the mouth?

Molly. Yes.

Twain. Well, I'll take the smack now.

(opens his arms and approaches her.)

Molly. No! I don't want to smack you before you do what I want.

Twain. Well, what is it?

Molly. There will be a young man here to see me, and when he comes, show him up to this room, will you?

Twain. Is it John Dodge?

Molly. Yes, it is.

Twain. I can't let him in.

Molly. Oh, but won't you, Twain. Remember the smack.

Twain. Well, give it to me now, and I'll let him in.

(kneels down and holds up his hands.)

Molly. Put down your hands! (Twain drops his hands) Now, one, two, three. (slaps him on the mouth as

Enter John Dodge, L. U. E.

Twain. That was a good smack.

John. My darling Molly! How happy I am to see you.

(embraces Molly, c.)

Twain. (R.) Be you John Dodge?

John. Yes sir, that is my name.

Twain. Well, I was told not to let you in, but you have got in without my knowing it, and as the old man said nothing about putting you out, I guess you can stay, but I'm going to watch you.

John. (taking out money) Twain will you go and get me a cigar if you please? You can keep the change.

Twain. (takes money) Yes, I don't mind.

(exit L. 2 E.)

John. Now Molly, let us have a kiss.

(Molly R. John L., run and meet c., are just about to kiss when

TWAIN'S DODGING.

Enter Twain, L. 2 E.

Twain. I saw you, and I'm going to tell. (going L.

John & Molly. (stopping him) Oh, don't Twain!

Twain. Well, what'll you give me?

John. A cigar.

Twain. I don't smoke.

John. Then I'll give you half a dollar.

Twain. That ain't half enough.

John. Then I'll give you a dollar.

Twain. Well, give it here.

John. (giving him money) Now get me my cigar.

Twain. I fly. (exit L. 2 E.

Molly. Now, John dear, we must have that kiss.
(they embrace c. and are again seen by Twain.)

Enter Twain, L. 2 E.

Twain. Oh now I caught you again. Give me another dollar.

John. Come now, Twain, you'll rob me. I did give you a dollar.

Twain. Then I'll go and tell. (goes L. John and Molly stop him.)

Molly. Oh, John dear, give him the dollar, or he will surely tell.

Twain. Yes, I'll surely tell.

John. Well, here's your dollar. Now go and get my cigar, will you?

Twain. I fly. (exit L. 2 E.

John. Now let us kiss.

Molly. No, he'll be back. Let us fool him, and only go half way.

John. All right. (they move toward each other, stop half way from c.)

Enter Twain, L. 2 E.

Twain. I caught you again. Give me another dollar.

Molly & John. No we didn't, we only went half way. (laugh.

Twain. Den give me half a dollar.

John. No indeed, I won't.

Twain. (looking R.) Here comes de ole man. I guess you'd better git.

Molly screams and runs out R. 2 E. John is trying to get under the table, and is held back by Twain. Enter Hardlife R., pounds John and Twain with club.

A. D. AMES, PUBL

OUR BUSINESS—WHAT WE DO.

PLAYS. We sell everything in the line of dramas and farces, and call the attention of our numerous patrons to our own list. We think it embraces play which will suit either professional or amateur companies. If however you need something, published elsewhere, do not hesitate to send us your orders—our stock is very large, and we fill promptly.—Stocks of every publisher on hand.

LETTERS OF INQUIRY answered promptly, and we solicit correspondence. If the business upon which you write concerns you alone, enclose a 3 cent stamp for reply. Amateurs who are puzzled upon any questions relative to the stage will be answered explicitly, and to the best of our ability.

MANUSCRIPT PLAYS. Parties who have Mss. to dispose of should write to us. We will publish whatever may be meritorious, on terms which will be satisfactory.

SHEET MUSIC. Orders for sheet music, or music books will be received and filled as promptly as possible.

CATALOGUES will be sent free to any address. Send a postal card, with your address, and the catalogue will be sent by the next mail.

HOW TO ORDER. It would perhaps seem to every one that any directions as to 'how to order' plays was entirely superfluous; but not so. We have many instances, and remember to have been severely censured by parties, some of whom failed to sign their name to their order, or failed to write the state, etc. In the first place, begin your order with the name of your post office, county and state. If you order from our list, it is not necessary to designate, only by giving the name of the play; but if from the lists of other publishers, state the publishers name, if you know it. Do not write your letters of inquiry on the same sheet with your orders, and make the order always as brief as possible. When completed do not fail to sign your name very plainly. Attention to these rules will insure the filling of your orders, by return mail. Postage stamps of the denomination of 1, 2 and 3 cents, will be taken in any amount less than $3.00.

PLAYS TO SUIT COMPANIES. Amateur companies frequently have trouble in procuring Plays well adapted to their wants, frequently ordering perhaps five dollar's worth in single copies, before anything suitable can be found. All this can be done away with. Our catalogue embraces plays suitable for any and all companies, and if our friends will write to us, stating the requirements of their companies, there need be no trouble, in this line at least. If a temperance society wants plays, we have something for them. If a company wants something which is very funny, we can suit them. In fact, we have dramas, farces, tragedies and comedies which will suit you. Enclose 15 cents per copy, for as many copies as you may need, and we guarantee to suit you, if you will state the size of your company, and whether best adopted to the serious or funny. Give us a trial at least.

MAGNESIUM TABLEAU LIGHTS. There is scarcely a person who has not been annoyed by the smoking of colored fires, which are so often used on tableaux, and whole scenes in dramas have been ruined by the coughing and noise always attendant on their use. We earnestly recommend the use of the Magnesium lights. They can be ignited with a common match, and burn with wonderful brilliancy. There is no danger in their use; they make no smoke and are cheap. Price, 25 cents each, by mail, post paid. Those who do not know how to burn them, will be instructed by addressing the publisher.
